

SOCIAL EVENTS.

Col. and Mrs. J. C. Clark and Mr. and Mrs. P. F. Hazen Observed Their 30th Wedding Anniversary.

The 30th wedding anniversary of Col. and Mrs. John C. Clark and Mr. and Mrs. P. F. Hazen was fittingly observed on Saturday evening at the home of the Clarks on Summer street where a dinner was served to about 40 of the friends of both families. The rooms were beautifully decorated with festoons of yellow chrysanthemums and cut flowers and after the dinner a short program was carried out under the direction of Col. Clark. Mrs. Hazen spoke in a delightfully reminiscent vein, piano solos were executed by B. Frank Harris, and Mrs. Robert P. Clark, dialect recitals were given by Robert Mackinnon and Mr. Silby, an original poem was read by Charles H. Horton, appreciative words were contributed by Frank H. Brooks and Perley F. Hazen, and Arthur P. Stone told a few stories. The evening closed with a delightful social hour and in parting the guests wished their hosts and hostesses many more returns of their anniversary.

Allen Graham Instantly Killed by Premature Blast at the Quarry.

This community was shocked Monday morning to hear that Allen Graham, who but a short time before had left here for his work at Blue Mountain quarry, had been instantly killed. Mr. Graham had charge of the blasting on the quarry and it is thought he must have dropped some grains of powder, which were ignited by a spark from the match he used in lighting the fuse, causing an explosion which threw him 30 feet into the air, landing his body a bruised and broken mass at a distance of 75 feet thus bringing his life to a tragic end. Mr. Graham was a native of Canada but for the past few years has made his home in this place. His parents live at Hamilton, P. Q. The remains were taken to Canada for burial Tuesday accompanied by his three brothers, Alex, Angus, and Murray of Bangor. Deceased was about 35 years of age and unmarried.

Peacham.

Death of Mrs. Ira Jennison.—Town and Personal Notes.

Died at Peacham, Sunday, April 16th, Mrs. Ira Jennison, aged 59 years, 7 months, 22 days. Clara Partridge was the daughter of Albert and Alma Brown Partridge and was one of a family of four children: Charles, born at Peacham, July 31, 1846, died Feb. 19, 1886; Clara, Mrs. Jennison, born at Cabot, Aug. 25, 1851; Harvey, born at Barnet, Nov. 28, 1858, died Aug. 16, 1890; George, born at Barnet, July 4, 1861.

When Mrs. Jennison was about three years old her parents moved to Barnet and later came to Peacham to the farm where her brother George now resides. In December, 1873, she was married to Ira Jennison at West Barnet by Rev. John Bole, and has since resided on the farm at Green Bay, where her death occurred.

Mrs. Jennison has been in failing health for some years, having a complication of diseases to battle with. During the latter part of her sickness she was a great sufferer. During good health she with her husband was a faithful attendant at the Congregational church of which both were members.

She was a kind, generous and all feel the loss of a most kind friend and neighbor, and deeply sympathize with her husband who seems to be left alone in the old home.

Besides her husband and brother George she leaves an adopted daughter, Mrs. Holton Robinson. The funeral was held at the home Tuesday afternoon at two o'clock, and burial was in Peacham cemetery.

Miss Anna Renfrew visited last week in Manchester, N. H. She came home Monday.

Barn of S. P. Strickland, Bangor, Me., covered with Amatite Roofing.

Amatite Roofing

A Roof That Needs No Painting

Amatite has a real mineral surface which needs no painting.

The above illustration shows the barn of S. P. Strickland, Bangor, Me., which was roofed with Amatite three years ago. The owner's opinion of it is expressed in the following letter which we recently received:

"Gentlemen:—The Amatite Roofing purchased three years ago and placed on my barn, has given most satisfactory service. The Roofing is unusually attractive in appearance, and in my judgment is the most durable and satisfactory made. The fact that it requires no painting appeals to me very strongly, and this feature makes it by far the cheapest ready roofing on the market. Yours very truly,
(Signed) S. P. STRICKLAND."
